

The Suspects

Ashley Dunn

Once considered 'Hollywood's Sweetheart', Ashley starred in five blockbuster movies and received four nominations for Best Actress before she made the transition from actress to director. She claims that Hollywood "runs in her blood" as her father was a well-known actor, and her grandfather was a famous director in the 1920's and 30's. With two new directorial projects on the go (the first debuting at next year's film festival), Ashley is one busy star. In addition, she fills every free moment she has with charity work. Ashley is elegant, graceful and soft-spoken, and wears a designer dress made especially for her for the awards ceremony.

Sarah Westmore

A newer face on the Hollywood scene, Sarah Westmore is young, beautiful and talented – a triple threat. While she cut her teeth in acting on a number of smaller, independent productions, her recent success is thanks to her leading role in one of the largest movie franchises of all time, a movie trilogy called The Goodrich Incident. Despite her perceived overnight success, Sarah is not caught up in her own hype. While beautiful, she has been criticized for her "plain" looks, and how "ordinary" her appearance is compared to the rest of Hollywood's leading ladies. Realistic and down-to-earth, she is outspoken with the media and has been called one of "Hollywood's Misfits". Earlier tonight, Sarah secured herself the Best Actress award, and accepted it in an extravagant, flowing designer dress.

Morgan Quick

Pop princess Morgan Quick began her career as a country singer, made the switch to pop music and then transitioned to acting. At just 27 years old, she has already released five albums, the songs on which she wrote herself, has had 20 number one songs and won eight Grammy awards. Growing up in the industry, Morgan is constantly under scrutiny and in the public eye, and some say her early success has made her over-confident and has doomed her love life. She has appeared in a number of films, and has even lent her voice to some animated movies, and has won awards for her philanthropy. She was nominated for Best Actress for her role in the thriller "Ultra Sizzle", but failed to secure the accolade earlier this evening. Morgan wears a frilly designer dress and heels.

Rayanne

One of Hollywood's young elite, Rayanne is a singer/songwriter and actress who was born and raised in Jamaica. A poised young woman, Rayanne is a true rising star, and her career is only gaining momentum. Her vocal talent is only surpassed by her acting abilities, and her fans are heavily devoted. Rayanne took home the Best Supporting Actress award tonight for her role in the final installment in the movie trilogy The Goodrich Incident. Rayanne stunned her fans and the world on the red carpet tonight in a designer dress, pictures of which have already gone viral on social media.

Cassie Brody

Another member of Hollywood's young elite, Cassie Brody began her career starring in one of the highest grossing movies of all time – a British tale of wizards and witches based on a book called “Wizards Academy”, in which she played a young witch battling dark forces with her two best friends. Cassie has been acting in Wizards Academy since she was nine, and has grown up on-screen. Now a young woman, Cassie was thrilled to break out of her sweet-girl role, try something new and be taken more seriously as a gifted actress in the industry. She has succeeded, and for her role in The Sailor's Lament, she achieved a nomination for Best Actress. Cassie has a fantastic sense of humour though, and those who have acted with her will attest to her penchant for pulling pranks on her directors and the other actors. Cassie wears a stunning designer dress that sparkles almost as much as her bright smile.

Ellie Vogel

Director Ellie Vogel is a well-known name in Hollywood thanks to her screen adaptation of a novel titled The Goodrich Incident, a trilogy. While the first of these movies was her Hollywood directorial debut, she has worked on a number of independent films, which is where she met her Goodrich Incident leading lady, Sarah Westmore. Not coincidentally, Sarah was awarded the accolade for Best Actress tonight for her role in the final of the three films, and the other lead in the film, Rayanne, took the award for Best Supporting Actress. Not surprisingly, Ellie Vogel was nominated for, and walked away with, the statue for Best Director this evening. Ellie wears an understated designer dress.

Matilda Teasport

Morgan Quick's Personal Assistant Matilda is vapid and self-entitled. Obsessed with appearances, high society and celebrity gossip, Matilda is seemingly the perfect person for the job. Her smart phone is like her third hand, and she has been deemed the "Queen of the Selfies" by her close-knit group of party friends. Matilda has shiny hair, perfectly-manicured nails and tends to use the word "like" as though it's a form of punctuation. She wears a daring designer dress that draws gasps of both shock and admiration, and a pair of sparkly heels.

Trixie Triggs

Bodacious, audacious and larger-than-life, Trixie founded a celebrity and entertainment news and information website called FKA, which has become the destination for dirt on celebrities. With over one thousand employees now working for her all over the world, Trixie has become an overnight success. Despite the source of her success, she claims to operate with integrity and prides herself on reporting the highest-quality celebrity sleaze. She wears a designer dress and a devilish grin.

Reva Spence

The first female late night talk show host ever, Reva Spence is a comedy trailblazer, and host of The Super-Late Show with Reva Spence. One of the most popular talk show hosts in the world, Reva got her start as a stand-up comedian. Her show is best-known for the pranks and stunts they pull, candid on-location interviews with celebrities and the valuable prizes she gives away to her studio audience. Fun-loving, hilarious and always up-beat, Reva is the life of the party. While not in the running for any awards tonight, she attended the ceremony in a designer dress - a detour from her usual on-air attire of casual slacks and dress shirts. While at the after party, she is recording quick interviews with celebrities on her smart phone for a segment on her show next week called "What The Stars Really Think".