

THE SUSPECTS

SOPHIE

A newer vampire, Sophie began her undead life about fifty years ago, turned by a careless vampire who targeted her whole family. While she is still a relatively new vampire, Sophie is vicious and can be ruthless at times - not a vampire to be trifled with! Sophie is excited about her immortality though, and has grown to enjoy being a vampire. A few months ago she reunited with her younger sister, Penelope, and has brought her into the Antonov clan.

ALENA

One of the oldest vampires known in the world, Alena is considered "Vampire Royalty". Nothing important happens in the vampire world without the knowledge and permission of the royal family of vampires, including a change of the head of a coven. Alena lives in Romania, but has traveled to Casillero de la Sombra to meet with vampire clan leader Frederik Antonov about a private matter. She is immaculately beautiful but one of the most dangerous creatures to walk the earth.

MELISE

A visitor to Casillero de la Sombra, Melise is a quiet traveler who tends to keep to herself. A mysterious vampire, Melise claims to come from New Orleans, and her reasons for passing through the area are not known. Vampire etiquette states that a vampire must extend refuge from the sunlight to another in need whenever necessary. Because of this, Melise has been invited to stay at Casillero de la Sombra. She arrived the day before yesterday, and planned to continue her travels tonight at sundown.

PENELOPE

Penelope is an older vampire who has only recently joined the Antonov clan. In her human life she was charming and extroverted, qualities that serve her well as a vampire, especially while hunting humans. A few years ago, while Penelope was traveling without a coven, she reunited with her sister, Sophie, who joined the Antonov clan years ago. Penelope has since joined the family, much to the clan leader, Frederik Antonov's chagrin.

CAROLINA

A young vampire, Carolina is erratic and unpredictable. With a piercing stare and startling good looks, she tends to remain silent unless she has something to say, and when she does, it's usually scathing and relentless. While most new vampires tend to act this way as they are adjusting to their new undead life, Carolina is taking longer than most to adjust. In spite of this, she is a born leader, and clan leader and victim Frederik Antonov believed that with a good mentor, she would one day be a great clan leader.

MARGARITE

A traveler, Margarite arrived at Casillero de la Sombra yesterday and is staying here for the night as she passes through the area. As vampire etiquette dictates that a vampire must extend another hospitality, Margarite is staying at the castle to pass the daylight hours before continuing her journey at sundown tonight. Margarite is strong, fierce and slightly jumpy. There is something about her disposition that tells the vampires in the coven to keep their distance from this mysterious night walker.
